GANGES I.O.D.E. REPORT SHOWS BUSY YEAR

By Review Representative
GANGES, March 14.—The annual report of the Ganges Chapter, I.O.D.E., for 1933-34, submitted by the secretary, Mrs. E. Waller, and the financial report presented by the treasurer, Mrs. Frank Crofton. The chapter raised $396.57 and ten meetings had been held. There had been no outstanding events. In this time of depression the chapter kept together and raised about $80 more than in the preceding year. The I.O.D.E. room in The Lady Minto Hospital at Ganges had been redecorated, a new mattress provided by the kindness of a member and $20 worth of new linen given by the chapter, who also contributed towards the cost of relaying the kitchen floor of the hospital, and buying linoleum. To raise funds a jig-saw puzzle contest was held, also a garden party, bridge party, concert and miscellaneous sale. Prizes were awarded to those obtaining the highest marks in entrance examination and recitation. The Canadian Geographical Magazine was given to the local high school and I.O.D.E. calendars sent to all schools, public and private, the hospitals, etc. The chapter regretted the resignation, through ill health, of their regent, who had acted in that capacity for ten years. The subsequent death of her husband was a great grief to all. The chapter has made Mrs. H. E. Scott, their beloved regent, a life member and also honorary regent.

LOCAL HERD WINS HONORS

Duntulm Jersey Herd, the property of Major Douglas Macdonald, East Road, is well up in the honors list in Record of Performance test. Duntulm Seagull, a two-year-old, has just won a silver medal with 10,902 lbs. milk and 616 lbs. butterfat in 365 days. Duntulm Becky, a mature cow, has completed a 365-day test, giving 12,572 lbs. milk and 681 lbs. fat—missing a gold medal by only 19 lbs. The herd sire is a grandson of the famous You'll Do's Volunteer, and his first three daughters to go on test as two-year-olds are Duntulm Golden You'll Do, 8,865 lbs. milk, 546 lbs. fat, 365 days (qualified for silver medal); Duntulm Jersey You'll Do, 5,624 lbs. milk, 318 lbs. fat, 305 days; Duntulm Spot You'll Do, 3,586 lbs. milk, 181 lbs. fat, 127 days. All these cows are handled under ordinary farm conditions, twice a day milking, and with the exception of bran, the ration fed is produced on the farm.

CANADIAN WHEAT WINS

The following is an excerpt from a letter received from the Central Experimental Farm, at Ottawa, which will no doubt be of interest to local readers:
"Information recently secured from the prize winners at the International Hay and Grain Show, held in Chicago in December last, reveals the striking fact that in the hard red spring wheat class, the most important class in the show, all of the prizes were won with varieties of wheat originated and developed by the Dominion Experimental Farms. There were 35 awards in all. Twenty-eight exhibitors won with Reward, six with Marquis and one with Garnet. This is Canada's proud record of grain exhibition successes maintained, and it is noteworthy, indeed, that the Dominion Experimental Farms have contributed so materially towards this outstanding triumph."
Canadians everywhere may indeed feel justly proud of the fact that varieties of wheat of Canadian origin have won so consistently.

Out of the "Irish" families competing for leadership at the Y.P.S. "Irish Night" on Monday evening, the notorious Kelly family topped the list with the largest number of points.
Relay races, contests and singing made up the events for competition during the social period, the winners being awarded Saint Patrick prizes, while the Murphy's, the lowest in line, were given the job of serving refreshments and washing the dishes.
A program of Irish numbers made up the first part of the evening when members of the group contributed such items as skits, readings, songs and recitations.

"OLD KATIE," CENTENARIAN BURIED LAST SATURDAY

The familiar figure of "Old Katie," Indian Princess and "the white man's friend," has departed forever from the land she had known for nearly 100 years, for she passed away to the Great Beyond on Thursday of last week.
The simple burial service was conducted on Saturday by Rev. Father William Lemmens at the Catholic Church, West Road, a sorrowing group of Indians standing with bowed heads to honor the mortal remains of a tribal princess. Interment took place in the little churchyard.
Strange indeed will it seem to residents of the district to think that "Old Katie" will never again be seen walking the streets of Sidney or the roads of the countryside and will never more make her customary visits in and out among the houses of the "white man," where she was well known. Many a resident can recall the days when "Katie" made her regular weekly visits to Sidney to look after the family washing in many a home.
"Katherine" or "Old Katie," as she was known to whites and Indians alike, was born on the Fraser River about the time that James McMillan erected the palisades of old Fort Langley in 1827, the first outpost of white man's civilization on the coast of what is now British Columbia.
When Chief Jim of the Saanich Indians visited the Fraser River with members of his tribe for salmon fishing he saw Katie, then a young girl of 16, and, according to tribal custom, made overtures to her parents. So, Katie, a princess born, became the bride of a young chief, returning with him to his home on the Saanich Inlet, where she made her home up until the time of her death.
Just how old "Old Katie" was is hard to say. The Review upon enquiring from Indians that knew her put her age at 103 or 104, while white pioneers figure she was about 95.
The present chief of the Patricia Bay Reserve, Chief Edward Jim, is a son of "Old Katie." She is also survived by a daughter, Cecelia, also on the reserve.

The Review

AGED CHIEF TELLS OF THE OLDEN TIMES

The editor of the Review, through an interpreter, recently interviewed the oldest Indian chief on the Saanich Peninsula, namely Chief Latess of the Brentwood Reserve, who claims to be 120 years old.

Chief Latess

Chief David Latess, a Songhees Indian by birth, is reputed to be a very fluent speaker in his native tongue, according to white pioneers of Saanich. The chief, despite his age, has still a keen, though kindly, pair of eyes, and is still able to roam over the hills in a surprisingly energetic manner.

Questioned regarding the mildness of the weather in the old days, the chief assured the writer that down through the ages this part of the world had been favored with a very mild climate. There was one exception to this however, when some 130 or 140 years ago, according to information given by the chief's father, there was an unusual winter when snow fell to a depth of 14 feet on the level and remained for a considerable length of time. Many Indians starved to death as a result, the snow being too deep to procure wild vegetables from the fields and wild game soon being depleted.

In the old days the Songhees had dominion over what is now the City of Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and the American group of islands known now as San Juan, Orcas, etc.

The Saanich Indians, according to the chief, were a mighty nation in olden days, no tribe daring to attack them alone. The Saanich Indians dominated North and South Saanich and the territory to the west, away past Shawnigan Lake and north to Cowichan Bay and on throughout the Gulf Islands, Kuper, Thetis, Valdes, Salt Spring, Galiano, Mayne, Saturna, Pender, and smaller islands.

According to the chief the Indians had their boundaries laid out hundreds of years before the white man appeared on the scene, and as accurate as the surveyor could do it.

Some 200 years ago there was a settlement of Indians on the present site of Sidney. The Comox Indians, and a number of Coast Tribes swooped down on this settlement and carried off many of the women and children. The settlement was then removed to Patricia Bay for safety.

It will be interesting to Review readers to know that the chief's wife is acquainted with descendants of the prisoners taken at Sidney 200 years ago, now residing near Comox.

Asked if a sea serpent had ever been sighted, the chief said yes, 160 years ago, just off Sidney.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen" (Hebrews 11:1).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures":

"M. P. here belief, is as a pendulum swinging between nothing and something, having no fixity. Faith, advanced to spiritual understanding, is the evidence gained from Spirit, which rebukes sin of every kind and establishes the claims of God" (p. 23).

Prowler Is Captured By Telephone

On the night of March 6th, states the Merritt Herald, the wife of a Merritt garage man was home alone with her child when she heard a prowler outside, apparently attempting to break into the house. She quietly telephoned her husband at the garage, and he hurried home, armed with a piece of hose. He found the prowler on the verandah, and after giving him a thrashing, took him to the police station. It was learned that the man had recently served a sentence of 18 months for breaking and entering. Once again the telephone had proved its value in an emergency.

How Advertising Helps You

ADVERTISING is neither magic nor clap-trap. It is in the main simple, straightforward statement of fact. It has resulted in public confidence in branded articles sold on an enormous scale, cheaply — through advertising.

"Do A Good Turn Every Day"

"Be Prepared"

The regular meeting was held Saturday evening. There was a very good attendance of parents and friends whom we were very pleased to see and hope they will come again. Scoutmaster Bullen and seven Scouts from the Langford Troop also paid us a visit. Mr. Bull, the president of the local association, and Mrs. G. E. McLean, the secretary, were presented with the Scouts' Thank Badge. This badge entitles the wearer to the Scout salute and the help of any Scout at all times. The evening was spent mostly in games, and the boys entertained the visitors with songs, plays, etc. At the end of the meeting everyone was given a taste of the B.P.'s birthday cake.

The following boys have qualified for their entertainer's badge: Bob Deildal, Bruce Baker, Ben Wells and Joe Thomas, and as soon as they have completed their second class the following boys will also be entitled to their entertainer's badge: Albert Slater, Henry Slater and Don McNeil. Tom Bowers and Ben Wells passed their first class semaphore. The Lions were the winners this week.
